kuch kahe unkahe sapne hain

अभी ना जाओ छोड़कर.....

My elder sister used to talk about her articleship days often. She used to talk about her experiences and fun at outstation audit with the same enthusiasm as if she is currently pursuing her articleship though she is qualified chartered accountant now and very well settled in her corporate job.

However, her talk awaking my immense curiosity and I don't leave the same chance to irritate her with my questions (Afterall its basic right of our younger siblings). What was the Client's Business? Did you catch Fraud? I shower her with my questions and she with useful calmness asks me why do you want to know everything at now? Have some patience..... Once you Start with your articleship you will miss the fun of surprises if you know everything already.

I was waiting for my articleship like every RCB fan waiting for IPL win.

Finally, the sun of the articleship is arrived. Now I can feel every word by my sister right from MIDC to corners of the cities. I am actually living the days I was dreaming and imaging.

Initially outstation audits were totally maze game for me. Searching address of the client, understanding the business models, assessing the accounting treatments was totally adventures for me.

As it is sold what is meant to be happen final it's way. Slowly I understand the business model. Small discussion led to friendships with the staff and business owners. Small talk over tea revealing the untold stories behind accounting adjustments. Apart from knowledge and completion of audit assignment I am going views about industries, getting inspirations from business minds and different ways of thinking.

The journey started from Audit Planning ends on Audit Documentations. It was feeling like ending a ride exactly when I had started enjoying it. On last day I always feel like, it was just started, it was just movement past when I was started performing vouching superiorly.

But to start something new we have stop something old. Now we are on the way of new audit assignment, new business, new books of accounts..... a new start of a new journey. While preparing Audit File, Audit documentation, Audit Plan and books of accounts were singing in my ears, "अभी ना जाओ छोड़कर....."
